NATIONAL GRAIN MARKET REVIEW

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets closed in a mixed price trend across the nation during the week ended April 16. World grain production prospects expanded as weather patterns showed general improvement. Export inspections were lower but expanded northern river and lake loadings contributed some market strength. High interest rates and poor animal feeding margins discouraged ownership. Approaching feed grain tenders by Mexico and Venezuela added support to corn and sorghum markets at the close.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets reacted to weather reports calling for rain over wheat areas but much of the hard red winter wheat area remains dry. With increased reports of insect damage some strength returned to hard red winter wheat markets. Soft red winter wheat markets fell as fair rainfall amounts benefited the crop. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat traded sharply lower at mid-period on rain forecasts. But as actual rain fall was scattered, and less than needed to relieve dry subsoil conditions, the market closed within 1 1/2 cents of the previous week's close. Chicago soft red winter wheat moved down 6 1/2 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat traded 6 cents higher. Portland soft white wheat closed mixed, 1 cent lower to up 2 cents.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets reacted to expanded lake and river loadings and to news that Mexico and Venezuela were tendering for feed grains. Chicago No.2 yellow corn in hopper cars rose 2 1/2 cents. Kansas City milling quality white corn market remains inactive due to lack of offerings and the market held unchanged.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats traded mixed in thin trade as milling quality stocks remain in tight supply but demand continued slow. The Minneapolis, oats market closed unchanged to 6 cents lower. Minneapolis best malting barley moved 10 cents higher as surplus brew produced earlier in the season was brought into balance by recent brewing reduction and brewers anticipated heavier usage. Minneapolis feed barley moved 20 cents lower. Stockton barley eased 2-3 cents lower.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum trade remains dull due to poor feed conversion but the feed grain tenders in the market at the end of the period contributed strength to move the Kansas City market up 14 cents per hundred pounds. The Texas High Plains market rose 10-15 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Reduced soybean inspections for export coupled with poor feeding margins forced soybean markets lower. Chicago No.1 yellow soybeans declined 17 1/2 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed moved up 20 cents as export demand expanded. Duluth sunflower seed ranged 60 cents higher per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Oilseed markets turned sharply higher across the nation during the week ended April 23.

Increased barge and ship loadings firmed oilseed, wheat, and most feed grains. Rains delayed planting in the corn and soybean belts. Farmers were busy preparing for planting and sold little grain. World weather conditions turned more favorable but a few dry spots remain responsive to reports indicating the Russian grain embargo might be lifted. The grain stocks report caused some traders to even up positions and take price protection on soybean bids due to larger than expected soybean stocks.

WHEAT:

Winter wheat areas received beneficial rainfall but some areas remain short of surface and subsoil moisture. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat moved 4 1/2 cents higher per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat moved up 3 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat traded 10 1/2 cents higher. Portland soft white wheat rose 5 cents as ship loadings remain heavy.

CORN:

Corn markets firmed in spite of improving moisture conditions in the corn belt as farm selling is light and traders needed supplies to load waiting ships and barges. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn ranged 2 cents higher per bushel. Milling quality white corn markets were dull and unchanged.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets moved mixed in thin trade. Minneapolis oats rose 5-6 cents under expanded mill buying. Minneapolis best malting barley traded steady to up 5 cents per bushel. Feed barley markets showed little activity and were steady to easier at Minneapolis and Stockton. The Portland market moved sharply higher.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum traded mixed as the Kansas City market eased after the Mexican feed grain tender was completed. Kansas City multi-car sorghum bids eased 1 cent lower per hundred pounds. Texas High Plains Sorghum closed 5 cents higher.

OILSEEDS:

Expanded crusher and exporter demand coupled with tight holding at the farm level raised soybean bids all week. At the close some traders took price protection due to the stocks report indicating larger than expected soybean stocks. Chicago No.1 yellow soybeans was up 12 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 15 cents per bushel and Duluth sunflower seed rose 10 cents per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain prices moved mostly lower across the nation during the week ended April 30. Some markets showed strength at the close due to lifting of the Russian partial grain embargo, Russian fixing of ocean freight and a sale of 100,000 tons of corn to an undisclosed destination. Market weakness stemmed from firmer U.S. currency, larger than expected grain stocks, an increase in prime interest rates, dull domestic feed demand and poor soybean crush margins. World weather news was mixed but turned mostly unfavorable with too cold conditions in parts of Russia and most of Europe, dryness in northern China but too wet in China's rice area, dryness in Australia and Canada. U.S. Moisture conditions improved but some areas remain critically short of reserve moisture.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets went generally lower after U.S. Stocks reports indicated larger than expected carryover and timely moisture fell over much of the winter wheat area. Kansas City hard red winter wheat ordinary protein closed 12 cents lower. Chicago soft red winter wheat declined 8 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent wheat finished 18 cents lower. Portland soft white wheat finished mixed, 1 cent lower to 1 cent higher.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets closed mostly lower in spite of tight farm holding as moisture conditions improved across the corn belt. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn in hopper cars closed 1 1/2 cents lower. Kansas City milling quality white corn held unchanged in dull trade all week.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Slowed buying interest and improved moisture in the northern states moved the Minneapolis market 5 - 8 cents lower. Minneapolis best malting barley traded 5 - 10 cents higher and the higher prices pulled increased offerings from the country. Feed barley markets were dull and mostly unchanged.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets followed yellow corn direction closely. Moisture condition improved in Texas sorghum areas. Kansas City yellow sorghum declined 9 cents. Texas High Plains market finished steady to 5 cents lower per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets traded erratically during the week and closed mixed. Domestic and export soybean meal demand has remained quiet. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans closed down 1 1/2 cents. Illinois Processor point prices finished mixed. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 10 cents under expanded crusher demand. Duluth sunflower seed fell 25 cents.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Grain markets moved mostly lower across the nation during the week ended May 7. Farm offerings declined sharply, buying interest also dropped sharply when stronger U.S. dollar value reduced export buying. Higher prime interest rates increased cost of carrying stocks and poor animal margins discouraged domestic feeding operations. Scattered rain, coupled with a 10 day forecast indicating additional rain over much of the nation, offset dry subsoil conditions and threat of frost as market firming factors.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets were under pressure of improved moisture conditions over much of the hard red winter wheat area and lack of substantial new export business. Kansas City hard red winter wheat ordinary protein wheat fell 4 cents per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat declined 22 1/4 cents as beneficial rains fell over soft red winter wheat areas. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat closed mixed with ordinary protein 1 3/4 cents lower while 14 percent protein rose 1/4 cent per bushel. Portland soft white wheat moved down 3 cents per bushel.

CORN:

Yellow corn showed surprising strength in spite of sharply improved moisture conditions as inspections for export picked up last week and stocks showed good disappearance. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn eased 3/4 cents lower per bushel. Other markets were narrowly mixed. Kansas City milling quality white corn moved 5 cents higher as stocks remain light and mills needed supplies to fill order. Truck white corn markets were unchanged all week.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets moved mixed with demand slow, crop prospects improved by rains in northern areas but with farm selling well regulated. Chicago heavy oats moved up 5 1/2 cents but Minneapolis market finished unchanged. Minneapolis best malting barley dropped 10 - 15 cents due to heavy country offerings during the past month. Feed barley markets moved higher on buying to fill export orders and tight remaining stocks contributed support.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum traded mixed as domestic demand fell off but export demand expanded. Kansas City multi-car sorghum traded 5 cents lower. Texas High Plains market moved steady to up 5 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets fell sharply as inspections for export fell short of the previous week, oil and meal prices declined and some processors withdrew from the market because of inverse crush margins. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans went down 6 3/4 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed traded unchanged at $8.35 per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed rose 5 cents per hundred pounds. Lack of country selling furnished most of the strength.

RYE
MINNEAPOLIS

Effective June 1, 1981, spot rail grain bids at Chicago will no longer be collected or disseminated by the United States Department of Agriculture, (USDA), Grain Market News. Spot rail trading has become exceedingly limited at Chicago. For example, during the 23 cash trading sessions, October 1 through October 31, 1980, only three rail cars of corn, one car of soft red wheat, and one car of oats were confirmed as spot rail sales by the Grain Market News reporter. Conversely, the "to arrive" market, for up to 30 day delivery at Chicago, continues to be actively traded. In 1979, over 80 percent of the 170 million bushels of grain and oilseeds moving into the Chicago market traded on a "to arrive" basis. The truck and rail bids for grains and oilseeds depicting the "to arrive" market will be featured in USDA Grain market news reports from Chicago after June 1, 1981.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved mostly lower across the nation during the week ended May 14. Weakness stemmed from forecast of expanded wheat crop prospects in the U.S. and Russia, higher interest rates, stronger dollar against weaker world currencies and greatly improved moisture conditions in the midwest grain belts. Wheat harvest has started in Texas and reports indicate wheat prices have now declined in Western cattle feeding areas to near substitution for corn levels.

WHEAT:

Larger than expected wheat production forecast for U.S. and Russia weakened most wheat markets. A drop in weekly inspections for export for wheat and corn contributed weakness. Greatly improved moisture over much of the country added to the weaker trend. Kansas City hard red winter wheat fell 5 cents and Chicago No. 2 soft red winter wheat fell 16 1/4 cents per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat reversed the general trend and advanced 8 1/4 cents as mills sought more wheat than farmers were willing to offer. Portland soft white wheat fell 9-11 cents.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets slid lower as moisture conditions improved and weekly corn inspection for export fell about 6 million bushels. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn dropped 8 1/4 cents per bushel. Kansas City white corn held unchanged in dull trade.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets moved higher in spite of light buying interest as farmers held small remaining stocks tightly. Minneapolis oats market rose 5 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley finished unchanged to 5 cents lower. Feed barley closed mixed, down 10 cents at Minneapolis and mixed at Portland, down 7 cents to up 17 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Yellow grain sorghum moved mixed as export demand expanded while feed demand slowed. Kansas City multi-car bid rose 4 cents but the Texas High Plains price fell 5 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets fell sharply as general rains improved moisture conditions over most of the Soybean Belt. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans declined 18 1/4 cents and Illinois Processor point prices fell 10 1/2 - 15 cents per bushel. Scarce flaxseed offerings traded 10 cents higher at Minneapolis. Duluth sunflower seed market rose 50 cents per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved to mostly lower price levels across the nation during the week ended May 21. High interest rates discouraged stockpiling grains and feedstuffs, poor feeding margins discouraged heavy feeding schedules and stronger U.S. currency strength kept export trade at a reduced pace. Improved moisture conditions in world grain production areas contributed some weakness in spite of continued drier than optimum conditions in parts of Australia and Canada. Some hard red winter wheat areas received freeze and hail damage last week but this was offset by improved moisture conditions.

WHEAT:

Spot strength developed in hard red winter wheat as flour mills raised basis in an effort to pull wheat out of farm hands to cover recent export flour awards. Improved moisture conditions coupled with spreading winter wheat harvest in Texas along with favorable spring wheat planting progress depressed markets. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat rose 2 cents per bushel. Chicago No. 2 soft red winter wheat dipped 10 1/2 cents lower and Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat declined 9 1/2 cents per bushel. Portland soft white wheat moved 19 cents lower.

CORN:

New crop corn planting lagged slightly behind normal but moisture conditions improved over much of the Corn Belt and prices slid lower in spite of well regulated farm selling. Sales of Argentina wheat and feed grain to Russia lessened prospects for greatly expanded new U.S. grain sales to that country. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn fell 5 1/2 cents per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn declined sharply.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Scarce heavy oats offerings traded in a mostly higher price trend with the Chicago market 3/4 cent higher and the Minneapolis market 10-13 cents higher per bushel. Best malting barley firmed as light offerings at Minneapolis traded unchanged. Feed barley markets were dull and prices moved mixed.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum markets moved lower in spite of increasing export basis as domestic demand remained very slow and declining corn markets added downward pressure. Kansas City multi-car bids fell 20 cents and Texas High Plains prices dipped 5-15 cents lower per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets moved lower in spite of tight farmer holding as crush margins continue narrow and export demand declined as world currency markets fell in relationship to U.S. dollars. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans fell 8 1/4 cents and Illinois processor point prices ranged 8 1/2 - 16 cents lower per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed held unchanged. Duluth sunflower seed rose 30 cents per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved in a mixed price trend across the nation during the week ended May 28. Weather conditions improved over much of the world's grain producing areas but additional moisture is needed in Australia, Canada and scattered other areas. Some excess moisture problems delayed planting and crop development in parts of the U.S. and Russia. High interest rates continue to discourage grain ownership. Stronger U.S. dollar market reduced export trade for grains and feedstuffs.

WHEAT:

Hard red winter wheat markets firmed due to tight farmer holding of old crop. Frost and hail damage along with rain delayed harvest in Texas and Oklahoma. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat rose 4 cents and Chicago soft red winter wheat moved 6 cents higher per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat moved mixed with 14 percent protein down 3 3/4 cents and ordinary protein up 1/4 cent per bushel. Minneapolis medium milling quality durum wheat fell 15-75 cents. Portland softwhite wheat moved up 6-7 cents as traders needed supplies to fill new export orders.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets moved mostly higher as rains delayed planting which is running behind last year and slower than average. Farmers were reluctant sellers until planting can be completed. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn traded up 5 cents per bushel. Kansas City rail white corn receipts held unchanged, but truck prices fell 40 cents.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets declined under nearby new crop pressure. California feed barley declined sharply as new crop harvest started. Minneapolis best malting barley declined 5-10 cents. Minneapolis feed barley fell 15 cents and the Stockton market dipped 45-46 cents lower per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum traded higher in spite of dull domestic trade as rains delayed planting and exporters needed stocks to fill pipelines. Kansas City market rose 9 cents and Texas High Plains market traded steady to up 10 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets moved higher as processor crush margins improved, farmers held old crop stocks tightly and rains delayed plantings in some areas while soil held up planting progress in spots. A pick up in domestic soybean meal demand added a little support. Export business was hampered by stronger U.S. dollar market which increased cost in European markets. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans advanced 11 1/2 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 5 cents per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed weakened 20 cents per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grains markets moved mostly lower across the nation during the week ended June 4. Improved weather during the week permitted farmers to resume corn and soybean planting in the eastern areas of the Corn Belt along with higher interest rates and stronger U.S. dollar resulted in a sluggish export market. The main element supportive to the futures were rain delayed wheat harvest in Texas and Oklahoma along with the forecast of more rain over the week-end and continued light farmer selling.

WHEAT:

Hard red winter wheat markets moved lower as mills and export interest declined with commitments covered. Harvest in the Texas and Oklahoma areas was delayed due to rain and farmer selling remains extremely light. No. 1 hard red winter wheat at Kansas City was up 6 cents per bushel. No. 1 soft red winter wheat at Chicago declined 6 3/4 cents per bushel. No. 1 dark northern spring wheat, 14 percent protein, at Minneapolis down 3 1/4 cents and No. 1 hard amber durum wheat lost 35 cents per bushel. No. 1 soft white wheat prices at Portland held steady to one cent higher.

CORN:

Improved weather conditions over much of the midwest enabled growers to resume corn planting. Demand for grain at the Gulf remains slow with adequate supplies on hand to cover commitments. No. 1 yellow corn at Chicago declined 7 1/4 cents per bushel. No. 1 white corn in Kansas City was down $1.05 per bushel as a major adjustment was made by processors.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oat prices showed strength during the week as demand picked up but offerings remained at a near standstill. Barley prices fell as new crop prospects looked good following the timely rains in the growing areas. No. 3 or better barley at Minneapolis was unchanged to 40 cents lower per bushel as demand at lake houses slowed.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum prices declined following corn futures down and losing strength in the basis. No. 2 yellow sorghum at Kansas City was off 16 cents per cwt and Texas High Plains was down 10 cents per cwt with business confined to new crop supplies as harvest in the southern areas is expected to get underway within the next two to three weeks.

OILSEEDS

Soybean prices fell sharply on the lack of export demand along with deteriorating crushing margins. Most areas are reporting an inverse market for nearby and deferred selling as commitments are covered in most positions. No. 1 yellow soybeans at Chicago lost 33 1/2 cents, per bushel. No. 1 flaxseed at Minneapolis down 30 cents per bushel as crushers withdrew from the market. No. 1 oil type sunflower seeds at Minneapolis declined 70 cents per cwt due to the lack of export movement along with poor crush margin.

WHEAT AND FEED GRAIN PRICES MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feedgrains markets moved in a mixed trend across the nation during the week ending June 11 with corn and soybean markets posting gains, while oats and barley markets moving to lower levels. Hard red winter wheat declined in the harvesting area due to the sharp drop in the protein premiums. The markets were influenced by the U.S. trade agreement signed with the Soviet Union and Mexico, the lowering of prime interest rates, and the value of the dollar overseas. Improved weather conditions permitted farmers to return to the fields and resume planting corn and soybeans in the eastern areas of the corn belt and wheat harvest resumed after being delayed by rain earlier in the month.

WHEAT:

This year's winter wheat crop is estimated at a record high of 2.01 billion bushels. This is 6 percent higher than last year and weighed on the markets. No. 1 hard red winter wheat in Kansas City declined 17 1/4 cents per bushel. No. 2 soft red winter wheat in Chicago advanced 7 1/4 cents per bushel. No. 1 dark northern spring wheat, 14 percent protein, in Minneapolis lost 3/4 cent and No. 1 amber durum was unchanged to 15 cents lower. No. 2 soft white wheat in Portland gained 6 cents per bushel. No. 2 rye in Minneapolis up 10 to 25 cents per bushel.

CORN:

Country selling remained light with no support in the market. Improved weather conditions in the eastern corn belt enabled farmers to move rapidly ahead toward completing corn planting. Export demand was slow with adequate supplies at the Gulf to meet the slow vessel loading, which has reduced the basis for supplies. No. 2 yellow corn in Chicago advanced 5 cents per bushel. No. 2 white corn in Kansas City was unchanged.

OAT AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets declined in slow demand with the bulk of the interest in the deferred position. No. 2 feed barley in California was steady. No. 3 or better malting barley in Minneapolis lost 5 to 10 cents per bushel but No. 2 feed barley was unchanged. No. 2 oats in Toledo unchanged to 5 cents higher per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum traded higher following corn futures with light supplies and demand in nearby positions. No. 2 yellow sorghum in Kansas City gained 18 cents and Texas High Plains area up 10 cents per cwt.

OILSEEDS:

Yellow soybean prices declined as export interest continues dull due to a strong U.S. dollar and high interest rates. No. 1 yellow soybeans in Chicago lost 4 3/4 cents per bushel as weather conditions permitted substantial acreage of soybeans to be planted throughout the midwest. No. 1 flaxseed in Minneapolis closed 5 cents lower per bushel. No. 1, oil type, sunflower seeds in Minneapolis advanced 70 cents per cwt, reflecting the stronger overseas demand for oil.
